A Good Girl to Miss.

I'm an only daughter young girl,
A spit-eurl and frizzes young girl,
A languishing, dainty, old powder and painty,
Sitt up at 11 young girl.
I'm a would-be-sittin' young girl,
A poet on the arts young girl,
A dot in embryo, don't know a thing you know,
All on the surface young girl.
I'm a novel-reading young girl,
I be awake unt 13 young girl,
A romantic, half-crazy, but terrible lazy,
Let me do the work young girl.
I'm a look-out for a catch young girl,
A snatch 'em up quick young girl,
A half do the proposing, and bar 'em when dozing,
Hold on to your game young girl.

On the Safe Side.

A Michigander who was riding along the highway, near Charlestown, W. Va., a few days ago, came across a negro who was grubbing out a stump near the meadow fence, and after a few questions about farm products the Wolverine asked:

"What do you get for taking that stump out?"

"Jist fifty cents," was the reply.

"How long have you been working at it?"

"Wall, nigh 'bout a week, I reckon."

"And how much longer will it take?"

"Wall I spects I could finish it to-morrow, but I reckon I won't do it afore Friday."

"Why?"

"Wall, heah am de pint. If I finish it to-morrow an' git my money, I'll be bound to drop down to Hallowtown an' lose it all. Ef I wait till Friday, I can have the means of gwine inter de circus at Charlestown. I knows my weakness, boss, an' so I've gwine to set heah an' dig a little an' sleep a little, an' chop off de last root when I heah de circus 's blowin' on top de red skule house hill.—Detroit Free Press.

Permission Granted.

President Arthur and Secretary Kirkwood have granted the necessary permission for the right of way for the extension of the Chicago, Texas and Michigan Central and St. Louis and San Francisco railroads through the Choctaw Nation. These companies are building southwest to Texas and Mexico, and must pass through the Choctaw Nation's territory in order to complete their lines. The Choctaw council is now in session, and it is understood are willing to grant the desired right of way, but it was necessary for them to obtain the permission of the Secretary of the Interior.

In Nevada, recently, two rival coaches started out on parallel roads, each four-horse team on the gallop. A New Yorker, being the only passenger in one coach, took a seat with the driver. He endured the first five miles very well, as the road was very smooth, and he finally carelessly observed:

"This place is rather hard on the horses, isn't it?"

"Oh, no! They are used to it. I haven't begun to swing 'em yet!" was the reply.

"If we were going a little slower, I could enjoy the scenery much better."

"Yes, I s'pose so; but this line isn't run on the scenery principle."

That ended the conversation until the horses turned a corner, and the stage rode around it on two wheels.

"You make me think," John Williams said, dropping upon a sofa beside a pretty girl last Sunday evening, "of a bank whereon that wild thyme grows."

"Do I?" she murmured. "It's so nice! But that is pa's step in the hall, and unless you can drop out of the front window before I cease speaking you'll have a little wild time with him, my own, for he loves you not." His descent was rapid.

General Grant is said to have accomplished the return of his old comrade and staff officer, Col. Amos Webster, to the lucrative office of Register of Wills, from whence he was removed by General Garfield on the morning he was shot. The name of Mr. Ramsdell, who was appointed in his place, will not be sent to the Senate, and Webster will go back under the tenure of office law.

An elderly lady who was very indignant at the conduct of a man in a Galveston street car, who was smoking, punched the driver in the back and asked: "Driver, ain't it agin the rules to smoke in this car?" "You can smoke as much as you please, madam, if the gentlemen don't object," was the response. Then she rang the bell and got out.

A dry goods clerk, who had a most outlandish way of walking, had to go to a distant part of the store to find some goods which a party of feminine customers desired to see. "Walk this way ladies," he called as he swung himself off. "But we can't walk that way," cried a pert miss; "we never learned that style, you know." The clerk is now drilling his tibia in the motions of a new gait.

The greatest difficulty the managers of the Denver & New Orleans railway are meeting with in the construction of this line, seems to be in getting out of Denver. This is not very creditable to the enterprise of the city. The road offers a new outlet from Denver to the south, and should be encouraged instead of being thwarted by petty opposition.—Denver Journal of Commerce.

Rails on the Denver & New Orleans road are now being laid at the rate of one and a half miles per day, and since the crossing of the Rio Grande, at Denver, the new broad gauge is expected to reach Pueblo in short order. All Colorado will welcome the new road, and Trinidad will especially rejoice.—Trinidad News.
